PolyWOOD® SHUTTERS

Polywood is the best shutter in America. Period. You'll love the way it looks in your home! Polywood shutters add style and value to your home. They complement any décor. Polywood shutters are the ultimate choice for beauty and durability.

Polywood gives you the rich look of fine wood shutters without wood's inherent problems. It performs better: lasting far longer than traditional wood shutters and insulating up to 70% more efficiently. It's made of a solid engineered wood substitute that won't chip, crack, warp or split.

If you want worry-free shutters, choose Polywood—it will outlast your house! It is moisture-resistant, fire-resistant, and impervious to termites. Polywood is UL tested and UV stabilized so you can be assured of a great quality product that lasts and won't yellow.

SHUTTER THE DOOR

You can have Polywood shutters installed for French doors and sliding doors. Some limitations exist on certain types of doors. Check with your Polywood shutter professional for details.

EARTH-FRIENDLY

We care about the environment. In making a wood shutter, more than 50% of a tree is wasted before it even gets to your window. That's one of the reasons why Polywood is made from a recyclable wood substitute. Not only do we save the forests, we also protect our oil reserves by making Polywood a by-product of natural gas, not petroleum.

CHOICES

There are multiple options for frames and shutter shapes to accomplish the look you want. For example, the window on the left features a single shutter with an outside mounted frame. The same window on the right shows an arch top shutter above a rectangular shutter mounted inside the window and trimmed out. Check with your Polywood professional to explore your options.
