About the Rocky Mountain Electric Metering Association (RMEMA):

The Rocky Mountain Electric Metering Association is dedicated to the advancement and future of the electric utility metering profession. We strive to advance individuals in this field with high quality experienced electric meter instructors that can pass on their knowledge to the future metering professionals. Our meter school promotes safety and precision in applying these techniques while offering information and electric meter training on advancing technologies, trends, and solutions to problems for today and in the future. Education, Instruction, Experience!

About the Conference:

RMEMA Meter School has been growing and developing a reputation for being one for the premier meter schools in the US since 1974! RMEMA proudly hosts the Rocky Mountain Electric Meter School every year in Fort Collins for both electric utility metering personnel and customer service representatives, (Well, up until 2020 when the pandemic forced us to take an unwanted break). We will be back in 2022 and we are hearing that our industry is anxiously awaiting the return of education and training, so we are anticipating an amazing turnout. Having been missed the last 2 years and based on the feedback, 2022 will be better than ever.

We offer tracks specific to one's level of experience or position or our school is designed to allow experienced professionals to choose the specific sessions that of interest to them. We are continually updating material, adding courses to stay relevant and offer a special interest track to address hot topics affecting us all right here and now. Our most recent focus is to offer as many hands-on opportunities in the classroom as possible however we do offer a track specifically dedicated to Hands On learning. Combined with our Getting Started 1-day course designed for those in the business side of metering such as business managers, customer service departments, etc., you can clearly see that there is something for everyone at the RMEMA Meter School.

Why Sponsor?

Simple! The RMEMA Meter School is attended by your customers. RMEMA as a school and as an organization is trusted by the companies who send their teams and professionals to our school to be trained. These individuals and companies are our leaders, our instructors and our students and they NETWORK! They talk to each other for four (4) days about all the products they use and give firsthand reviews. They will be networking with all our vendors at our welcome reception on Monday evening which is always a very successful event and a great time. And as they visit with the over 30 companies in attendance at our Vendor Show, will you be there to showcase your products or will you be missing while your customers, potential customers and those who influence decision makers learn about your competitor's products?
