$49 Consultation!

Introducing StemWave®

We are excited to offer a new pain-relief treatment that's fast, easy and non-invasive

Energy Delivery

PACE® generates powerful focused waves that are sent into the area of concern.

Stimulation

Through mechano-transduction, PACE® helps to initiate the body's own natural recovery mechanisms.

Response

The body responds with increased local circulation, supporting its natural recovery process at the treatment site.

The Science Behind It

PACE® delivers controlled mechanical waves to targeted areas of the body. Through mechanotransduction, this non-invasive approach may support temporary relief of minor muscle aches and pains and a temporary increase in local blood circulation.

What We Do

Your provider will identify the area being treated and apply the StemWave® device to the targeted area. Treatment is non-invasive and does not require surgery or injections. After your consultation, we can recommend a treatment plan based on your individual symptoms and goals.
