

Tomorrow ALL entries will open.

9am JANUARY 3RD

ShoWorks is a brand new program for us, so we are learning as we go. With that being said please be aware:

I've gotten lots of questions about document submission. This year (and hopefully this year ONLY) we will have a Google Form to turn in YQCA & Release of Liability. We just learned that the ShoWorks system doesn't allow per exhibitor document submission to occur after you have entered an animal. To be clear, Species submission (ex: pictures, BOS, etc) can be submitted after you have entered and paid for your animals. We are aware that most of you have already completed your YQCA and if you visit our website you can submit our YQCA there.

Tomorrow once you've logged on and completed an entry AND PAID you should get an email verifying the completion- please check your spam folder before calling the fair office, I am one person and it is greatly appreciated by the rest of our staff.

For clarification, each exhibitor can ONLY have one paid market entry (not including backup animals). For example: If you nominated a steer and plan on showing a sheep and enter a sheep your name comes off the nomination list for steers to allow exhibitors on the waitlist to move up. If sheep fill and you don't enter you will remain on the nomination list for steers and will need to pay for your entry.

If your species fills up, there WILL BE A WAITLIST option for you to select. We will ONLY reach out to waitlist exhibitors letting them know what number they are on the waitlist.

BEEF EXHIBITORS- I will send you a validation code SHORTLY, one code per exhibitor. Waitlisted exhibitors will not receive a code (unless you've made it into beef entries).

Again we recommend that all exhibitors and parents or leaders download the ShoWorks Passport App on their mobile devices. We will be sending out information through that platform often so be aware that is the fastest way for you to receive information related to the fair or even species specific details.
